WAR HAS BECOME BIG REVOLUTION

Walter Lippman So Tells Academy of Political Science.

(By Associated Press) PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 20.—The "grand alliance" between the United States and the democracies of Europe against autocratic aggression as practiced by Germany give rise to the hope that the war will lead to a Federation of the World, in the opinion of Walter Lippman, of New York, Associate Editor of the "New Republic," expressed today in an address on "America's Relations to the World Conflict," before the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

"I know it sounds a little old-fashioned to use that phrase, the Federation of the World," said Mr. Lippman, "because we have used it so long in empty rhetoric. But no other idea is big enough to describe the alliance. It is no longer an offensive-defensive military agreement among diplomats. It is growing into a union of people determined to end forever that intriguing, adventurous nationalism which has torn the world for three centuries.

"The war is dissolving into a stupendous revolution. A few months ago we still argued about the Bagdad corridor, strategic frontiers, colonies. These were the stakes of the diplomats' war. The whole perspective is changed today by the revolution in Russia and the intervention of America. The scale of values is transformed, for the democracies are unleashed. "We are at war to defeat the German government, to destroy its prestige, to deny its conquests, and to throw it back at last into the arms of the German people, marked and discredited as the author of their miseries. It is for them to make the final settlement with it.

"We can win nothing from this war unless it culminates in a union of liberal peoples pledged to co-operate in the settlement of all outstanding questions, sworn to turn against the aggressor, determined to erect a larger and more modern system of international law upon a federation of the world. That is what we are fighting for at this moment, on the ocean, in the shipyard and in the factory; later, perhaps in France and Belgium, ultimately at the council of peace."

DOCTORS WILL AID WITH BABY WEEK

Special Sermons Will be Preached in the Churches of the City.

Plans by the local committee on work connected with Baby Welfare Week, which will be observed nationally during the week beginning May 29, were the subject for discussion at a meeting of the committee held yesterday afternoon in the Rest Room at the Court house. Dr. L. N. Yost, county health officer, appeared before the committee yesterday proffering the cooperation of the County Medical society with the movement and told of his own observations of the great need of instruction along the lines of care of infants especially in the mining towns surrounding the city.

Special sermons in the pulpits of the city churches, moving picture films in the theatres and addresses in the public schools are some of the features of the observance outlined in the meeting yesterday to be a part of the celebration. Dr. Wood, assistant state health officer, of Huntington, will visit this city next week to make a survey of dairies in order that they may be graded on their merit. Mass meeting at surrounding towns will be included in the observance.
